Timothy Borgstrom's campus chronicles

On a Personal Note...

During my sabbatical I will not have any campus updates or student testimonies. OK, maybe one campus update...a student of mine, Kristi, will be joining staff after she graduates in May at UW Madison! I'm so excited to have Kristi as a co-worker as she will enable us to reach more of the campus and minister to women in a special way. Pray for her to get quickly funded.

One of my goals during sabbatical is to complete a Trinity class: Intro to the Old Testament. By May I will have read through the entire OT as well as commentaries for every chapter. I posted my first paper on go'el (kinsman-redeemer) on my blog if you're interested.

Zoë will be 3 months old in just a few days. She had her first round of immunizations, which was actually more traumatic for mom than Zoë! Zoë will be dedicated this coming weekend and we are excited to pledge our commitment to raise her in a Godly fashion and receive the support of our family & friends.

We've been taking a marriage class through our church and it's been great to help us remember to continue investing in one another. Cindi is sad that maternity leave is nearly over; pray for her transition back to work. Speaking of work, Cindi has nearly finished her work to get her administrators license. Pray that God would provide a vice principal opportunity near Sun Prairie in the near future. ~Tim
